Stanford Brain Rejuvenation Project

Mini-Symposium
Friday February 1, 1 - 5 P.M. (reception to follow)
Clark Auditorium

Andrea Ablasser, PhD
Ecole Polytechnique Fédérale de Lausanne (EPFL)
“Innate DNA sensing: Expanding roles in immunity and inflammation”

Robin Yeo
Stanford University (Brunet Lab)
“Epigenomic regulation of neural stem cell aging”

James Shorter, PhD
University of Pennsylvania
“Therapeutic dissolution of aberrant phases by nuclear-import receptors”

Michael Ward, MD, PhD
National Institutes of Neurological Disorders and Stroke, NIH
“A surprising link between lysosomal and RNA biology in ALS pathogenesis”

Organizers: Aaron Gitler and Tony Wyss-Coray